

EDUC7511 : The Learning Process

Students examine accepted theories and current research in learning behavior. Course explores the unique styles of learning and recent studies in brain function and behavior as they relate to the learning process.

Credits 3